General Dynamics aids Hugo victims

By Sharon Greengoid

After a bad thrashing by Hurricane Hugo recently, the people on the small isle of Vieques — 12 miles off the eastern coast of Puerto Rico — appealed to General Dynamics Corp. in Pomona for relief assistance.

Employee associations at the Pomona plant quickly responded by donating 3 tons of clothing and cans of food and $2,500 in cash. Their corporation matched the amount, bringing the cash contribution to $5,000.

The donations were shipped to the municipality of Vieques in Puerto Rico. General Dynamics Corp. footed the bill for the $4,500 it cost to ship the relief supplies by Emery Air Freight, according to company spokesman Eric Solander.

The tie that binds General Dynamics to the people of Vieques is the Phalanx cable

About 20 workers on the island manufacture Phalanx harnesses for Sparatac, a subcontractor for General Dynamics.

General Dynamics officials did not immediately take inventory of harnesses remaining at the heavily damaged island factory.

Don Spears, in charge of the company's charity collection effort, could not estimate the dollar amount of inventory, but

Cooperation needed to wipe out pollution

By Lee Peterson

PASADENA — In hopes of enlisting support for a governmental plan to wipe out air pollution, smog regulators began a new effort last week to urge local politicians to take action to clean the air.

The cooperation of more than 170 independent city and county governments is needed to make a huge portion of the controversial air quality plan

"We are partners with you. You take the lead," said Leo King, member of the South Coast Air Quality Management District board of directors.

While the local government workshop program was originated and sponsored by the AQMD, the program was put together by the public policy program of the UCLA extension department.

Cleaning the air might not be at the top of everyone's agenda. Some of the Southland city officials in attendance at the conference remarked that their city councils are often more concerned with crime and traffic woes.

Wes McDaniel, executive director of the San Bernardino Associated Governments, felt eliminating air pollution may be the highest priority in the Ontario-Pomona area, where the air is the dirtiest. But elsewhere, he wasn't so sure that the separate agencies could be convinced to cooperate.

The controversial plan depends on local planning and land-use decisions being made with the idea of reducing air pollution by putting people's homes closer to places of employment.

Cities shouldn't believe the dire predictions of economic ruin and Big Brother taking over because of the plan, said Pat Nemeth, the AQMD's deputy executive officer for planning and rules.

She pointed to past regulations on earthquake safety and flood control which were at first similarly decried but have been accepted into the body of city planning controls.

Upland tightens curfew regulation

By Kathy Betts

The slaying of 9-year-old Jason Lea last summer has prompted Upland officials to toughen the city's curfew ordinance.

They say the revised ordinance, which takes effect Oct. 25, will make it more difficult for an unchaperoned minor to be out late at night.

'Police will enforce it," said Mayor Robert Nolan, who prompted the City Council's move to update the city's estimated 50-year-old ordinance Nolan and other city officials had questioned why the Upland boy was out past curfew July 29 at James Games Video Arcade was found six days later in the San Gabriel Mountains.

A review of the city's outdated ordinance showed that anyone younger than 18 was merely forbidden to loiter on any public street, park or public place between 10 p.m. and sunrise

Private establishments, such as bowling alleys and video arcades, were exempt from the curfew

According to the amended ordinance, unsupervised minors under 18 may not loiter in places of amusement or eating places in addition to public streets parks, buildings or vacant lots

The amended ordinance also

City must hike spending limit for Monte Vista project

By William Diepenbrock

Montclair needs to raise its redevelopment project area III spending limit above $1.5 million a year before it can extend Monte Vista Avenue north to Foothill Boulevard, city officials decided last week

And so far, Milhiser and his staff have spent $9 million on two high priority projects - a Montclair parking structure and two new ramps at the Monte Vista Avenue-San Bernardino (10) Freeway interchange.

Now, the agency faces annual payments of $1.2 million for bonds it took out as an advance on the higher property taxes these improvements would generate. The agency is entitled to a share of this incremental increase in property tax.

However, the spending and debt service leave little in the way of free cash for a $2 millionplus railroad crossing for Monte Vista Avenue just past Arrow

So the Montclair City Council, acting in both that capacity and as the agency board of directors, approved a $112,500 consulting contract to start off the lengthy amendment process required to

Road project wish list expanded

By J. Rezendes-Herrick

SAN BERNARDINO - A plan to improve major roadways in San Bernardino County drew some last-minute additions during a recent San Bernardino Associated Governments

San Bernardino and Montclair added $3.4 million to a $25 million wish list for upgrading streets if San Bernardino County voters approve a half-cent transportation sales tax in November.

The five-year priority list was compiled by SANBAG acting as the county transportation commission after consultation with each of the cities. If the county Measure I is adopted, cities in the San Bernardino Valley will get back 20 percent of the transportation sales tax collect to spend on major streets

'The purpose of the list is to let the public know where the local share is to be spent," said Wes McDaniel, SANBAG executive director. "This first time around, we need to pull people together and create some projects.

But San Bernardino Mayor Bob Holcomb objected to spending $1.5 million to widen Waterman Avenue between Fifth and Ninth streets.

"From what I see in San Bernardino, that is not going to buy you many (Measure I) votes," Holcomb said. "Not many voters are going to be excited about widening Waterman. And if you don't get the votes, it's going to be a moot issue.'

He suggested adding the widening of 40th Street between Electric Way and Kendall Drive to the list at a cost of about $3 million

breaks down the curfew for different age groups. The curfew for children 12 and under is from 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. and for teenagers under 18 from 10 p.m. to 6

The ordinance carries a misdemeanor charge for violators, rather than directing violators to the juvenile court.

Minors will not be penalized if they are:

· Accompanied by a parent, legal guardian or a responsible adult approved by that parent or legal guardian, or if the minor is performing a task assigned by their guardian.

· Responding to an emergency with or without parental consent.

· Acting within the realm of employment, such as driving to or from work.

• Staying on the property of, the sidewalk adjacent to or building next to the building in which he or she lives.

• Legally married or a member of the U.S. military.

 Attending organized activities such as school meetings, classes or sporting events.

alter the project plan

A best-case scenario would have the consulting agency conclude the effort after seven months, but city officials said a span of about 18 months is more

Part of that time will be used to lobby other county bodies that use Montclair-generated property taxes to agree to the amendment.

Although the change won't raise property taxes, it will cut into the amount that goes to these other agencies, said assistant Executive Director Marilyn Staats.

To pay for the study, the agency and city held a joint session - of the same individuals. The city approved a $62,500 loan to the agency, which the agency agreed to repay at 12 percent interest.

Those funds will be added to $50,000 the agency board has left aside for the project.

YOUR BENEFITS UNDER

WORKER'S COMPENSATION

Thomas W. Moga, Attorney At Law (Board Certified Specialist) OVERLOOKED

Worker's Compensation is a no fault insurance. The injury can be your fault and you can still recover Let me give you some examples.

INJURIES

If you are in an automobile accident where you are at fault, you cannot sue the other person. But if you are working at the time of the injury, you can still recover under your employer's Worker's Compensation policy. The following people should be aware of this:

1. Truck drivers

Delivery drivers

3. Those people on errands for their employer who are involved in a accident

4. Salesmen

5. Bus and taxi drivers

6. Anyone injured while they are working and driving an automobile

Real estate salesmen have been found to be employees even though they are working on commission Newspaper delivery boys are also employees and if injured while on their route, they are covered under Worker's Compensation.

There may be two sources of recovery if you are not at fault.

1. You can recover under Worker's Compensation and also sue the responsible party for Personal Injuries. Generally, a Personal Injury lawsuit is worth more than what you can recover under Workers' Compensation, but nevertheless both avenues shoud be pursued.

REMEMBER, IF YOU ARE WORKING
AND INJURED IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT,
EVEN THOUGH THE ACCIDENT
MAY BE YOUR FAULT, YOU CAN STILL RECOVER UNDER WORKER'S COMPENSATION.

Upland eyes park on landfill site

By Kathy Betts

Faced with a growing need for more sports facilities, Upland officials are considering building a park on top of an old landfill.

The plan has been part of Upland's general plan for at least 15 years, said Recreation Director Larry Thornburg. However, the idea was not included in the general plan's park section until 1986, he said.

The growing population in the northeast part of town and the city's standard of having four park acres for every 1,000 residents have pushed the conversion plan into the forefront, Thornburg said.

"We need to have some parkland in the northeast part of town and the landfill would be able to serve that need," he said.

City Council members recently authorized a $27,000 feasibility study to determine if a 34-acre park could be developed on top of the 34-acre landfill site at Campus Avenue between 14th and 15th streets, said Assistant City Manager Michael Matlock.

That four-month study is being conducted by Kleinfelder Inc., which is headquartered in Walnut Creek, Matlock said

Consultants for Kleinfelder will "very broadly" touch on the environmental concerns of developing a park on the Upland landfill.

The real concern is that we don't know whose bailiwick it falls into," Rhinehart said. "My concern is it may have fallen into the cracks.

The additions generated some light-hearted responses from SANBAG board members at the rush of funding.

'It's all wish money anyway, said Highland Councilwoman Laurie Tully

"That's the way it works," jested 2nd District Supervisor Jon Mikels.

'That's not the way my budget works," said Adelanto Councilwoman Mary Scarpa.

MCM CONSTRUCTION. Fast service...quality work. Reas. prices. Free est's. 941-1630. "IT SOLD!!"
We hear those words a lot in the Classified Department. They come from the many advertisers...people like you...who have been successful in selfing articles they've advertised in the Classified section of The Daily Report. There just doesn't seem to be a better way to get quick results when you have something for sale than with these well-read little ads. And it costs so little, too! The next time you have something for sale, give us a call.
